THE LOOKING GLASS WARS: HATTER M #1 by Frank Beddor, Liz Cavalier, and Ben Templesmith
OCT05 1709, p142, $3.99

Last year, Frank Beddor wrote a novel published in the UK called THE LOOKING GLASS WARS, with a dark and twisted futuristic version of Alice in Wonderland that was published to both acclaim and controversy. The book's scheduled for a Stateside publication later this year, but in the meantime Beddor's created (with co-writer Liz Cavalier and artist Ben Templesmith) a side-story in the form of HATTER M. The art looks dark and twisted as well, and there's something about the idea of the Mad Hatter leaping through a puddle on the Champs Elysees to search for the Queen of Wonderland while fighting an evil magician that has grabbed my attention. I'm definitely taking a look at this.
